Tunxis Community College plays a significant role in the local economy and is a sound investment from multiple perspectives. Students benefit from improved lifestyles and increased earnings. Taxpayers benefit from a larger economy and lower social costs. Finally, the community as a whole benefits from increased job and investment opportunities, higher business revenues, greater availability of public funds, and an eased tax burden.

TCC Helps State & Local Economy

- The TCC impact region economy receives roughly $22.1 million in regional income annually due to TCC operations and capital spending.

  The regional economy is $261.8 million stronger due to TCC.

- TCC students who commute to the area from outside the region bring with them monies that would not have otherwise entered the local economy. The expenditures of TCC's out-of-region students generate roughly $24,100 in added regional income in the TCC impact region.

- TCC activities encourage new business, assist existing business, and create long-term economic growth. The college enhances worker skills and provides customized training to local business and industry. It is estimated that the TCC impact region work force embodies about 528,800 credit and non-credit hours of past and present TCC training.

- TCC skills embodied in the regional work force where former students are employed increase local income by $201.4 million. Associated indirect effects increase income by another $38.2 million.

- Altogether, the TCC impact region economy annually receives roughly $261.8 million in income due to past and present efforts of TCC.

TCC Leverages Taxpayer Dollars

- The state and local community will see avoided social costs amounting to $18 per year for every credit earned by TCC students, including savings associated with improved health, lowered cost of law enforcement, and reduced welfare and unemployment. This translates to $1.2 million in avoided costs to the State of Connecticut each year as long as students are in the work force.

- Students benefit from higher earnings, thereby expanding the tax base and reducing the burden on state taxpayers. In the aggregate, TCC students generate about $15.8 million annually in higher earnings due to their TCC education.

- TCC yields a return on government investment. State government allocated approximately $17.9 million in support of TCC in fiscal year 2007. For every $1 of this support, taxpayers see a cumulative return of $2.10 over the course of students' working careers (in the form of higher tax receipts and avoided social costs).

- State government see a rate of return of 9% on their support for TCC. This return compares very favorably with private sector rates of return on similar long-term investments.

TCC Helps Students Earn More

- A total of 10,622 credit and non-credit students attended the college in FY 2007. About 85% of these students stay in the region initially after they leave college, contributing to the local economy.

- Students see their annual income increase by $231 per year for every credit completed at TCC.

- Education increases lifetime income. The average annual income of a one-year certificate graduate at the midpoint of his or her career is $45,100, or 83% more than someone without a high school diploma, and 17% more than a student with a high school diploma. The average income at the career midpoint of someone with an associate's degree is $53,600, or 118% more than someone without a high school diploma, and 39% more than a student with a high school diploma.

- TCC students enjoy an average annual income increase of $231 for every credit completed.

- Throughout his or her working career, the average TCC student's lifetime income (i.e., future values expressed in present value terms) increases by $9.40 for every $1 invested (tuition, fees, books, and wages given up to attend).

- Students enjoy an attractive 25% rate of return on their TCC educational investment, recovering all costs (including wages foregone) in 6 years.
